

Who else wants to be successful in their business, make a difference and do the work they love?

Most heart centred business owners do!

Most women I know who run their own business want this for themselves, their clients and their families.

However, the reality for many women I work with is often different.

Too often running your own business can feel like a never ending battle:

- going round in circles
- worrying about how to get your next client
- feeling overwhelmed
- lacking clear direction
- not getting where you want to be, even though you work hard.

I've been there and it's lonely!

The good news is that it is possible to achieve your dream, by making a little time regularly to focus on your business and by working with the right person, who will support you and share their skills with you, to achieve this.

However, for most small businesses, investing upwards of £150 per hour in a business coach is not viable. So what is the solution?

What you need is an alternative that is affordable, that will teach you the essential elements to enable you to have a thriving and successful business.

- No more costly mistakes
- No more overwhelm
- No more struggling on your own

Imagine what that would feel like:

- ✓ having a diary full of your ideal clients, who want to pay you what you deserve to work with them;
- ✓ having different levels of services that you offer, so that you can make a difference to more people
- ✓ having direction and a clear plan in your business to help you develop
- ✓ knowing how to become more visible by understanding how to use social media effectively and being able to do this in your own business: thriving by doing the work that you love!

That's when you know you have a successful, viable business: no more negative thinking about having to get a part time job to pay the bills!

Sounds good?

The truth is that running your own business is not just about being brilliant at what you do, and helping others..... it all boils down to this, you also need to understand how to run your business so that it is sustainable with natural progression and a consistent income.

So, as a small business owner, how can you learn this?

It's easier than you think.

One solution is to work with me, in a small group, with other like-minded businesses who are in a similar place to you, on the 6 month Tea & Business Therapy Mentoring Programme.
